Nest quarterly investment report

Mark Fawcett
Chief Investment Officer

After a strong first half of the year, this quarter has brought some challenges to investment returns.

The focus of investors has remained predominantly on the prospects for economic growth and what path inflation will follow. However, the view that the future will be one of high economic growth and moderate inflation was challenged this quarter. After a consistent run of strong performance, this quarter it's been more of a mixed bag. The question around are we to face a moderate economic growth and a persistently higher inflation era has not been a good environment for stocks or bonds.

It was known that inflation rates would be high through the summer of this year as the economy transitioned back to normal. But shortages in labour and goods markets are beginning to last longer than originally expected and are taking a toll on the economy. The prospect of higher inflation remaining, and the recent hawkish central bank rhetoric have negatively impacted fixed income assets with most bonds struggling this quarter.

In a similar vein, developed market equities and emerging market equities have diverged again this guarter. Though developed market stocks came up against the same challenges as bonds in September, company reports showing stronger than expected performance supported equity returns through most of the quarter, allowing them to finish positively. Emerging markets have struggled due to developments in China. Regulators have continued to apply pressure on a range of sectors and China's largest property developer is close to bankruptcy. These have meant emerging market equities have held back performance and are seen vulnerable.

Despite bonds and equities struggling throughout the quarter, inflation of oil and gas prices has been positive for investment returns in commodities. It highlights the importance of our diverse portfolio, with the same factor driving these assets differently.

It's important to keep in mind the strength of the investment returns in the first half of the year and last year. We need to remind ourselves that developed market equities still remain about 10% higher than they were at the start of the year even after a stumble in September. The shortages and mismatches in labour and goods markets should begin to ease and lead to more sustainable economic conditions. Though these shortages pose a downside risk right now, we are confident in our diverse approach which should ease the ebbs and flows in markets.

Responsible Investment (1)

We've been working with other pension schemes on a joint initiative aimed at encouraging fund managers to report their workforce and diversity data to pension scheme clients. We've seen further positive reinforcement in this area as the 30% Club, an investor group dedicated to improving board diversity across UK corporations and of which Nest is a Co-Chair, announce the intention to widen their remit from gender to include race and ethnicity and encouraging companies to improve their progress against the targets set by the Parker Review.

Following the peak season of company Annual General Meetings (AGMs) we've written to investee companies where we voted against management due to governance or sustainability concerns. In total we wrote to 13 companies, including Ocado, Mondelez and Rio Tinto to outline our concerns and ask them to improve their practices in areas such as remuneration and oversight of environmental issues. In addition, we continued our engagement with investors coalitions like the #### ShareAction Healthy Markets Initiative.

We recently supported the initiative in sending letters to food retailers and producers asking for better disclosure on healthy food sales following the national food strategy's recommendations.

Nest 2040 Retirement Fund

(default strategy – growth phase)

Default strategy 0

Nest's flagship default strategy provides a fund for each year in which we expect a member could retire. We manage members' assets according to their age and how markets are performing. If members join in their early twenties they'll go through three, dynamically managed investment phases. Most members will spend most of their time invested in the growth phase. It's the engine room of the default strategy, aiming to grow well above inflation over 30 years. The consolidation phase prepares members' money as they approach retirement. The Nest 2040 Retirement Fund is in the growth phase of this lifecycle.*

Fund overview

The Nest Ethical Fund is for people who want to invest in line with specific ethical or moral concerns, for example in areas such as human rights and fair trade. ### Nest Guided Retirement Fund

Fund overview

The Nest Guided Retirement Fund (NGRF) is available for members to join between age 60 and 70 if they have £10,000* or more in their pot. This fund is a key part of Nest's post-retirement phase and aims to invest members' money suitably for their needs throughout retirement. Nest's Investment Committee annually reviews the fund to ensure the rate of money distributed is sustainable for members.

The NGRF is split into four parts:

- When members join the fund, 10% of their initial pot is invested in the Safe to keep aside for emergencies.
- The rest is invested in the Vault and is gradually distributed to the Wallet and the Later Life fund over time.
- The Vault is invested in growth assets with the aim of making the money last through to age 85, while transferring a steady amount each year to the Wallet for members to withdraw.
- The Later Life fund is invested for members to buy an annuity with at age 85 if they choose, to ensure their money lasts for life.

For more details on how each part of the fund works, download this NGRF factsheet from the Nest website.

* Members with less than £10,000 in their pot will be eligible for the Nest Post Retirement Date Fund, which manages conversion risk associated with withdrawing most or all of the pot as cash.
